"_Lt. Terrence Hood the Third"_

A man with silver semi- cut hair and green eyes stands firm in a fighting stance while surrounded by several unconscious men wearing Spartan- IV armour. His face is covered in bruises and is bleeding fast. Far away, the Arbiter saw the entire ordeal and gave sangheili version of a smile.

(Terrence is seated in a small well lighted room. Seated in front of him is the Arbiter.)

"You're record is impressive, graduated top of your ODST class and one of the best hand to hand specialist in the military. You even manage to beat 3 demons in combat when they insulted your comrades as being worthless individuals. We could use someone as good as you."

"Use me for what sir?"

"In protecting the galaxy kid, my organization is dedicated to that cause alone."

"I can protect the galaxy as an ODST sir."

"heheheâ€¦ trust me, this is bigger than being an ODST or a Spartan kid."

"How big?"

"Bigger than you ever realized."

>(In the White House, seated inside the Oval office is former Admiral Lord Terrence Hood. Seated in front of him is ONI director Rolland Richards.)

"Is this report accurate?" ask Lord Hood

"Yes Mr, President. This artefact will definitely be the one of the biggest discoveries of all time since halo sir. We already plan an expedition and have assigned one of our Supreme battleships "The Fortitude" under the command of Captain Ian Rodriguez to investigate the other side. We are just waiting for your confirmation sir."

>(A massive object with two long arms with a set of metal rings in the center and glowing light blue lay still in the void of space. Then a giant boxy grey ship with the name UNSC Fortitude appeared and begins approaching the lone artefact.)

(Inside the bridge, its captain with white hair wearing a standard UNSC navy service uniform is overlooking the artefact via hologram. He was then approached by a young man with silver spiky hair with green eyes and wearing black armour {AN: imagine the Advance Elite Suit in Dead Space 2 without the head gear} and carrying a strange sword on its back that has many interlocking gears.)

"Is that the artefact Captain?"

"That's right Knight- Guardian, that the artefact everyone been talking about."

"All right, let's see what it does."

UNSC Fortitude approaches the artefact and what hit by blue energy before being propelled forward by the strange energy.

The Fortitude stops after reaching the other side of the Artefact.

"All right activate all sensors I wantâ€¦"

"CAPTAIN WE GOT INCOMING"

Then hundreds of small but agile white warships with symbol of an A with stars on the middle appeared out of nowhere and begins assaulting the Fortitude.

"Fire all weapons, release all fighters, and focus ships energy to the shields! Plot a course back to the artefact now!"

The lone but massive ship begins firing its weapon, taking down several of unknown hostiles in just seconds. The space around them is bursting with red as ships continue to get destroy by the massive ship. Then, another batch of ships appeared, this one's much larger the first one.

Inside the bridge of largest ship in the newly arrived group, an elderly man with white beard and wearing a blue navy uniform with gold lining is seated in his command chair. He looks at the battle via hologram screen and he could clearly see the losses they are sustaining from the massive ship. He then full out his two dog tags under his uniform. One has the symbol of the Alliance but the other one has words UNSC- ODST mark in it.

"This is Admiral Steven Hackett to all Alliance shipsâ€¦ destroy that ship."
